Still restless, Wendy Whelan performs in Princeton

By ROBERT JOHNSON | 8 HOURS AGO

Ballerina Wendy Whelan is feeling ardent, as well she might. The former star of New York City Ballet has passed the age when everything is beautiful at the ballet. In her late 40s and scarred by surgery, her body won't take any more. Yet the trouper in her refuses to quit, and she continues to chase artistic highs.

"Restless Creators," the touring program Whelan presented on Tuesday at the McCarter Theatre Center in Princeton, is a way to avoid retiring. Continue Reading ...
